CARE INSTRUCTIONS

To maintain the beauty and usefulness of your flatware, please follow the recommendations below:

- Before using for the first time, wash flatware in hot soapy water. Add 120 ml (1/2 cup) of vinegar to the water to remove manufacturing oils and polishing residues. Rinse thoroughly and towel dry with a soft cloth.
- After each use, hand-wash using hot soapy water, rinse thoroughly, and towel-dry with a soft cloth. To reduce fingerprints, limit touching your flatware with bare fingers prior to storing.
- Automatic dishwasher cleaning using a mild detergent is acceptable, except for knives which should be hand-washed and dried promptly after each use. If using an automatic dishwasher for other flatware pieces, remove after the last rinse cycle and hand-dry to avoid discoloration.
- Your flatware may be scratched if contact is made with other metal objects. Care should also be used to avoid prolonged exposure to harsh detergents, acidic foods, strong bleaches, or salt, which may result in pitting or corrosion. Note: pitting will not affect the performance or usefulness of your flatware, nor is it considered to be a defect in materials or workmanship.

STORAGE

Store fine flatware using a separate storage case or protector or stack similar pieces neatly to minimize scratching. Do not store in plastic or wrappings that can trap moisture.
